CAPITAL AUTOCRATS.

OFFICIALS IN WASHINGTON WHOSE ONLY LAW IS THEIR WILL.

A striking example is the First Comptroller of the Currency, whose decisions cannot even be vetoed by the President. Who has the power of removal.

Among the most remarkable features of this government by the people is the extraordinary authority vested in certain subordinate officials at Washington. For instance, no man in the United States wields such power in money matters as the first comptroller of the currency. He is entirely independent of the secretary of the treasury, and even the president has no means of coercing him as the following story shows:

When Grant was in the White House, the first comptroller, Taylor, refused to countersign a warrant for the payment of a big claim out of the funds of the treasury. The president summoned him and said:

"You must sign."

"I will not, Mr. President," replied the recalcitrant official.

"Then I will compel you to do so," said General Grant.

"You have not the power," rejoined the comptroller coolly and respectfully.

"We will see about that," said the president. "I will consult the attorney general."

The attorney general, on being consulted, stated that the comptroller was right—he could not be forced to countersign the warrant. Next day the president summoned Mr. Taylor and said:

"I find that I cannot compel you to countersign the warrant. However, I can get another first comptroller."

"Very well, Mr. President," replied the officer. "You can have my resignation, but not my signature."

In fact, the only way in which the president can override a decision of this powerful official is by dismissing him and appointing another man. All of the accounts of the government, except those which relate to customs and the post-office department, are settled by warrants countersigned by the first comptroller. Without his signature the payments cannot be made.

There are two autocrats in the post-office department. One of them is the assistant attorney general. It is his function to decide whether matter offered for mailing is immoral or not. He acts as censor for the people. Whenever a postmaster in any city is doubtful regarding the morality of a publication that is sought to be mailed, he forwards a copy of the suspected work to the third assistant postmaster general, by whom it is referred to the assistant attorney general.

Very likely the latter may be too busy to investigate the subject personally, in which case he turns it over to one of his clerks, who peruses it and marks any passage which he considers indecent. Thus the law lord has simply to glance over the selected "bits of impropriety" and pass on them. The assistant attorney general also determines what mail matter shall be considered fraudulent and be excluded as such from the post.

The third assistant postmaster general is himself an autocrat. He has authority to exercise his own discretion in depriving periodical publications of the advantage of second class postal rates. Publications intended for advertising purposes primarily are not allowed these rates. On account of the "Kreutzer Sonata" a wholesale series of books, of which it was one, was shut out of the mails.

Publishers commonly get out volumes in series, because in this way they go second class as periodical publications so long as they are issued at least four times a year. The decision against that work did not actually exclude it from the post, because it could be and was sent at first class rates, sealed, so that nobody could lawfully open the package and find out what was inside.

The autocrat of the department of agriculture is the chief of the bureau of animal industry. He has authority to kill any animal he may choose anywhere in the United States. When one of his inspectors reports that such and such cattle are afflicted with an infectious disease, he orders them purchased and slaughtered. The value of the beasts is judged by two appraisers, one chosen by the owner and the other by the bureau. If they cannot agree, they appoint a third person to decide. In case a man refused to have his live stock thus disposed of, the police and United States marshals would be summoned.

The payment adjudicated is made by check. The chief of the bureau's authority in such matters is absolute over the territories and District of Columbia. For operations in any state he must have the consent of the governor, but the governor's consent cannot be withheld because he is in a position to coerce the state. If he chooses, he can quarantine the state, preventing all animals from going into or coming out for an indefinite period.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Wire as a Strengthening.

The method of strengthening copper steam pipes by means of coiled metal wire has been quite generally adopted in the Italian navy. The practice is to serve the tubes with one or two layers of wire wound under tension. The method is not considered applicable to other than straight tubes. The wire is of sufficient strength to carry the full load of steam, and the tension used in winding is about 1 1/2 tons per square inch. The wire is put on in two or three independent spirals, and the ends of each are independently fastened to the flanges.—Safety Valve.

Mrs. Newed—Dick, dear, I'm glad you don't forget to execute any order I give you. The other day I told you to order some kindling wood, and you must have thought of it constantly, poor boy, for that night you kept saying in your sleep, "Give me a dollar's worth of chips!"—Musician's Dream.

WAKE UP.

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, Languor, Dull Headache, Despondency, Constipation, take Simmons Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness—a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.

PROFESSOR FOSTER ON SILVER.

Mr. John Owen, a prominent mining man of Idaho Springs, Col., wrote to Mr. Foster, the noted weather prophet, some ten days since, asking him to give some forecasts in regard to silver. He received the following letter in reply:

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 7.

DEAR SIR: Yours of 4th received. We will get no silver legislation in our favor while Cleveland is president. When he goes out we may change our financial policy, making silver the basis of our monetary system. If the silver producing States could be relied on for straight work, we would certainly restore silver. But we have little faith in the silver States. If your Representatives had adopted Populist principles and stood squarely by silver in 1890, accepting nothing but free coinage at 16 to 1, the Sherman bill would have been defeated. But your Representatives in Congress compromised with the goldites, making silver a commodity, like wheat, corn, etc., instead of making flat money out of it. We of the agricultural States fear that your Representatives will again compromise with the gold power and desert the true principles of the People's party. It is woefully wrong to legislate for a higher price for silver as it is to legislate for a higher price for wheat, but that is just what the silver States did in 1890. They are now reaping their reward. If we do not need silver for use as money, then there should be no legislation on the subject. I am a Populist, have stood for those principles all along since 1873, and therefore have no faith in silver legislation except along Populist lines. Yours truly,

W. T. FOSTER.

HAWAII PREPARED TO RESIST.

If the news can be relied upon the provisional government of Hawaii will not so readily submit to the behests of President Cleveland as did our American Congress. President Cleveland, it seems, was of the opinion that the offer of fat offices which was so successfully used to warp the judgment of American Congressmen would work equally well in Hawaii, but those Hawaiian fellows seem to be made of better stuff. The offer of fat offices under the Queen was indignantly spurned by the present officers of the provisional government. The Dole party show no disposition to surrender without a struggle. They seem to have anticipated Mr. Cleveland's intentions and made preparations for formal resistance. Mr. Willis, it appears, informed the State Department that he found the provisional government in possession of an army of a thousand men, 1,600 rifles, two gattling guns and four maxim rapid-fire guns with an abundance of ammunition. If the Dole party is thus equipped, it will require the landing of something more than the 600 marines to subdue them. The American ships in the harbor will have to bring some of their big guns to bear, and this would hardly be tolerated by the other powers whose citizens have large interests in the city.

STILL CRAWLING.

"The Republicans of Nevada may be in a minority, but nothing has been said or done to prove them to be wrong. Because they preferred to stand true to the great principles of government represented by that party rather than to follow the provision was in a temporary diversion will be likely to be to their discredit in the end."—Gazette.

Appropos of the above, the story recurs of the old negro down South who caught a tarapin, cut its head off and put it away on a shelf. The next morning he found it crawling out in the yard. He surveyed its preambulations in surprise and ejaculated: "That ere fool tarapin doan seem ter know his daid yit!"

NEVADA received more beneficial advertising from the expenditure of ten thousand dollars in making an exhibit at Chicago than could have been secured by the outlay of five times as much money in any other way. For good reasons the products and industries of the State should not fail to be represented at the Midwinter Fair in San Francisco and it will be looked upon largely as a Pacific coast event and as a gauge of the resources and enterprise of the people of this section.

If any of the goldbug editors or Demo-Republican sympathizers in this State feel so sure of the Republican party carrying Nevada at the next election they ought to be willing to back their judgment, and to give them an opportunity a reader of the Winnemucca Silver State has authorized that journal to announce that he has $500 or any part of it to wager that the Republicans do not carry Nevada at the next election. Now put up or shut up.

The Belmont Courier wonders if the farmers of the northwest have discovered that as the price of silver goes down in like manner does the price of wheat go down? They will soon be compelled to devote most of their time to the study of the silver question.

The stockholders of the defunct Pacific Bank, San Francisco, have been sued by the California Glue Works for $9,280 90 which they had on deposit in the bank when it closed its doors last June. Judgment is asked against each individual stockholder.

FROM HONOLULU.

Minister Willis Presents His Credentials. HONOLULU, H. I., November 11.—But little of a definite nature has transpired since advice by the steamer China were sent. Perhaps the most significant was the tone of the remarks of Minister Willis when he presented his credentials on the 7th instant, together with the reply of President Dole, as follows:

"Mr. President, Mr. Blount, late Envoy Extraordinary of the United States to your Government, having resigned his office while absent from his post, I have the honor now to present his recall and to express for him his sincere regret that he is unable in person to make his own continued good wishes in behalf of your people, and his grateful appreciation of the many courtesies, both personal and official, of which while here he was the recipient."

"I desire at the same time to place in your hands the letter accrediting me as his successor. In doing this I am directed by the President to give renewed assurances of the friendship, interest and hearty good will which our Government entertains for you and for the people of this island realm. Aside from our geographical proximity, and the consequent preponderating commercial interests which center here, the present advanced civilization and christianization of your people, together with your enlightened codes of law, stand to-day beneficent monuments of American zeal, courage and intelligence, it is not surprising, therefore, that the United States were the first to recognize the independence of the Islands and to welcome them into the great family of free, equal and sovereign nations, nor is it surprising that this historic tie has been strengthened from year to year by important mutual reciprocities and arguments alike honorable and advantageous to both Governments. Invoking that spirit of peace, friendship and hospitality which has ever been the shield and sword of this country, I now, upon behalf of the United States of America, tender to your people the right hand of good will, which I trust may be as lasting as I know it to be sincere, expressing the hope that every year will promote and perpetuate that good will to the honor, happiness and prosperity of both Governments."

President Dole replied as follows: "Mr. Minister: It is with much satisfaction that I receive the credentials you bring from His Excellency, the President of the United States of America, accrediting you as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to represent that country at the Capital of the Hawaiian Islands. Your assurances of the continued friendship of your Government for me and the Hawaiian people add to the gratification which long experience of the generous consideration of the United States for this country has fostered. Permit me to assure you that we heartily reciprocate the expressions of interest and good will which you, on behalf of the American people have conveyed to us."

"Partly from the proximity, and partly from the leading influence of American citizens in the work of the inauguration of christian civilization and industrial enterprise in these islands, but still more from repeated acts of friendly assistance we have received from your country during the past half century, we have become accustomed to regard the United States as a friend and ally, and have learned to look first to her to help us in our emergencies."

"I regret the inability of your predecessor, Mr. Blount, to personally present his letter of recall and to afford me an opportunity to express to him my appreciation of the agreeable official and social relations that existed between him and our Government and people during his residence here. We congratulate ourselves, Mr. Minister, that the Government of the United States is to be represented here by one who we are assured is familiar with the questions arising from relation between the two Governments, and with whom we look for maintenance of pleasant official intercourse."

It has leaked out within the last few hours from a very reliable source that the new Minister will negotiate a treaty with the Provisional Government, which will place the islands virtually under the protection of the United States. It is understood that when completed this treaty will at once be submitted to the United States Senate, with Cleveland's message. In the meantime the United States will see that matters remain in statu quo here, both internally and externally.

THAT FOURTH OF JULY APPROPRIATION.

A Writ of Certiorari Issued by the Supreme Court.

Last Friday the Superior Court of the State issued a writ of certiorari commanding George Ait, W. P. McLaughlin and James S. Crosby, as County Commissioners and John B. Williams, County Auditor of Washoe county, to appear in that Court on December 4th next, bringing with them a record of all their transactions in relation to the claim of C. C. Powning for $1,000 allowed by the Commissioners, and on which certificates of indebtedness were issued by Auditor Williams for moneys claimed to have been advanced on account of the last Fourth of July celebration in Reno.

The case is entitled "The State of Nevada ex rel. H. H. Beck, plaintiff, vs. Geo. Ait, W. P. McLaughlin and James S. Crosby, County Commissioners, and John B. Williams, County Auditor of Washoe county, Nevada." B. F. Carler, District Attorney, and Judge

Benj. Carler are attorneys for plaintiff.

The facts in the case, briefly told, are as follows: General Powning was manager-in-chief of the last Fourth of July celebration. Shortly after the celebration he filed a petition with the Commissioners for the appropriation of $1,000 to defray the expenses, and presented a bill for that amount. H. H. Beck appeared before the Board and protested against the allowance. The Board, as compelled by law, laid the matter over for the time being. Definite action on the claim was deferred from time to time until the meeting of the Board on Monday, November 6th, when the claim was allowed, Commissioners McLaughlin and Crosby voting in the affirmative and Chairman Ait in the negative. The claim, with others, were taken to the Auditor, and he issued county scrip for the same, there being no money in the general fund available for its payment. Now legal proceedings have been commenced and they will be watched with much interest by the citizens of the county.

STATE TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.

A Communication from State Superintendent Ring.

CARSON CITY, Nev., Nov. 16, 1893. To the School Officers and Teachers of Nevada:—A joint State and County Teachers' Institute will be held in Reno, beginning Monday, the 27th instant, at 10 o'clock A. M., and continuing until Wednesday, the 29th, at 9 o'clock P. M.

Many of the ablest educators of the State and elsewhere will be in attendance during the time of the Institute to conduct the exercises.

Provision will be made for the accommodation of lady teachers during their stay at the Institute free of charge.

Round trip tickets, good from the 25th instant to the 2d of December, will be given for one regular fare, to teachers and school officers, by the Virginia & Truckee and Carson & Colorado railroad companies, upon presentation of certificate from the County Superintendent or Trustees of their respective districts, unless otherwise identified.

The Southern Pacific railroad company has not yet been heard from. They may do the same.

The law requires that "all teachers shall be required to attend and participate in the proceedings of the Institute when held in the section of the State wherein they may engaged in teaching, and without loss of salary for the time employed."

It is urged upon the several School Boards in the western part of the State that they grant a week's vacation and request their teachers to attend the Institute.

The Committee of Arrangement will take charge of all visiting delegations upon their arrival in the city, and try to make their stay pleasant and profitable.

Very respectfully,
ORVIS RING,

MIDWINTER FAIR.

Matters Relative to an Exhibit Thoroughly Discussed—A Nevada Building.

Pursuant to call, there was a joint meeting of citizens and members of the State Agricultural Society at the Court-house yesterday morning. The attendance was not overly large, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in the interest displayed by those present in the matters under discussion.

President Martin of the Agricultural Society presided, and stated the object of the meeting to be to determine definitely whether or not the State should make an exhibit at the fair, about securing space at the grounds, discussing ways and means of raising sufficient funds, as to the feeling of the people in regard to erecting a suitable building for the Nevada exhibit, and other matters which might properly come before the meeting.

Secretary Stoddard read a communication from the Vice President of the Midwinter Fair Association, in which the gentleman stated that Nevada could have 1500 square feet of space in two of the buildings for $1,800, and that the same would be reserved upon the receipt of fifty per cent. of the amount.

Governor Colcord.

Governor Colcord, who lately returned from San Francisco, stated before the meeting that, in company with Evan Williams, he visited the Board of Directors at San Francisco, at a meeting of that body, and protested against the idea of our State being compelled to pay for space in which to make an exhibit. The Board claimed that as the matter had already been settled with our Commissioners, and the space set apart, although no payment had as yet been made on the same, there was no further action to be taken and that no reduction in the price could be made, for if Nevada was given a reduction, others would be claiming the same right. The Governor could say nothing further, but found on his return here that the Commissioners have not closed negotiations for the space, but simply got the figures on what so many felt would cost. He stated to the San Francisco Board, however, that the people of Nevada, as a whole, protested most strenuously against the charge for space and if there was no State exhibit at the grounds, many of the blocks and handsome Nob Hill residences would be placarded as exhibits of Nevada enterprise and productiveness.

A NEVADA BUILDING.

The Governor believed that it would be far better for the State to erect a building of its own in which to make an exhibit, and was of the opinion that the money required to purchase space would almost, if not wholly cover the cost of such a building. At the figures received, $2,400 would be necessary for the space required and for that amount a nice building could be erected.

Sam Davis, he said, had received the concession and closed the contract for a piece of ground in the south-west portion of the grounds, in which to get up his '49 exhibit. That Davis has signified his willingness to allow the State to use a portion of the same. The ground is a slight projection from the main ground and the Governor's idea was to erect the Nevada building at the opening of this projection to the fair grounds proper and hem the Davis exhibit in by running a fence on either side of the building. There will be one entrance gate to the '49 exhibit, to see which a small fee will be charged, and the Governor proposes to make the only way of exit through the Nevada building. By this means all persons who go to see the Davis exhibit, which will probably be 75 per cent. of the attendance, will be compelled to look upon the Nevada exhibit. A building 40x50 feet would be ample, and could be completed in a very short time. In regard to finance, he suggested that the Agricultural Board make application to the many moneyed men who made their fortunes in Nevada for assistance.

WHAT OTHERS SAID.

D. A. Bender also addressed the meeting and took almost the same grounds the Governor did, and said by all means Nevada should make an exhibit, and thought no better selection could be made than the Davis ground. Senator Westerfield thought the Governor had advanced the most feasible plan, and that a separate building was necessary to make a proper showing. The gentleman thought the transportation companies were not doing the right thing in fixing the rates, etc., in the manner they have. He said he thought their action would cool the ardor of many who had intended taking in the fair. The Senator is in favor of a first-class exhibit.

Senator Foley stated that, in company with General Powning, he met Mr. de Young, General Manager of the Fair, while that gentleman was passing through Reno a short time ago. He explained the feelings of the people relative to paying for space. Mr. de Young expressed regrets and promised to do what he could in the matter, but nothing has been heard from him concerning it since. Now that the separate building proposition has been advanced, he believed that the best plan.

H. L. Fish, from conversation with several citizens, doubted very much that the people were a unit in favor of an exhibit. He did not believe the State would derive sufficient benefit to warrant the expense.

Hon. J. P. Foulks suggested that mass meetings be held in the several counties of the State in order to get expressions from the people as to their desires about an exhibit. If an exhibit is made, he believed, it should be in a separate building, and is in favor of one, first, last and all the time. He was satisfied the Multo Motor Co.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

would make an exhibit that would outdo anything of the kind at Chicago.

President Jones of the University argued in favor of an exhibit and believed a separate building to be the proper idea and that a suitable building could be erected at a nominal cost.

ABOUT FINANCES.

J. A. Bradley also believed in a separate building, but thought something definite in regard to finance should be suggested before anything further was done.

Governor Colcord believed sufficient money could be raised by personal subscription, and in that way the State would not have to be depended upon. The Governor said that the moneyed men of the State should subscribe liberally, and called over the names of half a dozen or more whom he thought would subscribe $1,000 each. He said that he would give $100, as did also General Powning, M. D. Foley, W. O. H. Martin and J. R. Bradley.

Mr. Foley, however, objected to this method of raising the money and said the State ought to bear the expense.

MOTIONS ADOPTED.

On motion, it was ordered that a committee consisting of Governor Colcord, C. C. Powning, W. E. Sharon and Evan Williams be appointed to go to San Francisco and confer with the fair manager and railroad companies to the end that the latter change their rates, etc., in relation to the fair, and endeavor to get the former to make some satisfactory concessions.

Senator Westerfield thought the committee should contain the names of some of the San Francisco residents who made fortunes in Nevada so as to get them interested in Nevada's behalf.

General Powning favored an exhibit, but did not believe the wealthy men outside the State would put up a cent, and that it rested with the people to come up with the necessary means.

Senator Foley moved, and the motion was adopted, that the President and Secretary immediately address the several Boards of Commissioners of the State and request them to notify the Board as to whether they favor an exhibit or not.

Upon motion of C. C. Powning it was ordered that the President and Secretary confer with the officials of the S. P. Co. and endeavor to get them to grant a one-fare ticket to the fair and return from all points in the State, the ticket to be good for 30 days.

It was ordered that a circular be issued, signed by the Governor of the State, the President and Secretary and members of the State Agricultural Society, and that a copy of the same be addressed to each of the prominent men now residing out of the State who made their fortunes out of Nevada and that they be asked to subscribe $1,000 each to assist in paying the expense of an exhibit.

It was decided that a portion of the space conceded to Sam Davis be secured by the Agricultural Society for the erection of a Nevada building at the Midwinter Fair, and that the committee heretofore appointed be empowered to select the location.

The meeting then adjourned.

SEEKING NELLIE HOME.

Standing on the beach at twilight
Listening to the waves dull roar,
As they beat in endless rhythm
On the treacherous, sandy shore,
One old song seems ever blending
With the waves in evening's gloam,
"From Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party
I was seeking Nellie home."

Back from age to youth it bears me,
Brings the dreams of youth again,
All forgotten, cares and sorrows
Banished by the well known strain,
Once again I see the old home,
Blessed by loving mother's care;
And around the hearth-stone clustered,
Father, brother, sisters fair.

When the cares of day were ended,
To the organ's notes we sang;
Songs of praise, or mirth and gladness
Through the old house loudly rang,
One sweet song I prized o'er others
Of we sang in twilight's gloam:
"From Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party
I was seeking Nellie home."

This the reason why 'twas dearest,
And with memory dwells so long;
Of a dainty blue-eyed maiden
Joined us in our even song,
Then when song and glees were over
Through the fields we'd idly roam;
Through the fields so sweet with clover
I would see my Nellie home.

In our fancy, oft we painted
Future joys that time should bring,
Unfettered all the shadows
Crust fate should o'er us fling,
All too soon her young life ended,
Passed away in twilight gloam,
Leaving me to mourn in sorrow,
Angels saw my Nellie home.

Long since passed from earth my dear ones;
Home and friends have I no more,
Waiting for the Master's summons
By the ocean's lonely shore,
Standing on the beach at twilight,
Wet with spray and decked with foam,
Hoping soon to hear the sweet call,
"Follow now thy Nellie home."

As from earth the last light faded,
Brightly gleam the stars above,
Seeming eye to call me heav'nward
To that home of peace and love,
Ever with the waves seems blending
Quaint old song in evening's gloam;
"From Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party
I was seeking Nellie home."

CORONER'S INQUEST.

Bob Nelson, Who Accidentally Killed a Companion, Exonerated.

Coroner Brown and a jury yesterday held an inquest on the remains of Kneud Sorenson, who was accidentally killed Friday evening while out hunting near Glendale with a party of friends. The evidence adduced at the inquest brought out the facts as published in yesterday's JOURNAL. Bob Nelson, the unfortunate man who did the shooting, was the picture of despair while relating the circumstances of the sad affair. After listening to the evidence the jury returned the following verdict:

We, the undersigned jurors, summoned to appear before H. P. Brown, Coroner of Washoe county, at his office in Reno, Nevada, on the 18th day of November, 1893, to inquire into the cause of the death of Kneud Sorenson, having been duly sworn according to law, and having made such inquiry after inspecting the body and hearing the testimony adduced, upon our oaths, each and all do say that we find the deceased was named Kneud Sorenson, that he was a native of Denmark, aged about 23 years; that he came to his death on the 17th day of November, 1893, at Glendale, Washoe county, Nevada, from an accidental shot from a shotgun in the hands of Robert Nelson, and we attach no blame whatever to said Robert Nelson, all of which we duly certify by this inquisition in writing by us signed this 18th day of November, A. "August Flower"

I had been troubled five months with Dyspepsia. The doctors told me it was chronic. I had a fullness after eating and a heavy load in the pit of my stomach. I suffered frequently from a "Water Brash" of clear matter. Sometimes a deadly sickness at the stomach would overtake me. Then again I would have the terrible pains of Wind Colic. At such times I would try to belch and could not. I was working then for Thomas McHenry, Druggist, Cor. Thirteenth and Western Aves., Allegheny City, Pa., in whose employ I had been for seven years. Finally I used August Flower, and after using just one bottle for two weeks, was entirely relieved of all the trouble. I can now eat things I dared not touch before. I would like to refer you to Mr. McHenry, for whom I worked, who knows all about my condition, and from whom I bought the medicine. Write with my wife and family at 39 James St., Allegheny City, Pa. THE NEW DYNAMITE GUNS.

They Are Being Placed in Position at Sandy Hook—What They Can Do.

New York harbor will shortly be guarded by a battery of dynamite guns, now being placed in position at Sandy Hook. These guns, three in number, two 15 inch caliber and one 8 inch, were provided for by the recent congress. Work on the foundations for the guns has been going on for several weeks, and Mr. S. D. Schuyler, vice president of the Pneumatic Torpedo and Construction company, said that at least one of the guns will be ready for testing within a few weeks.

The test, which will be made merely to ascertain if his gun is perfect and not for range or accuracy, will be made under the supervision of Captain Gordon, U. S. A., the resident inspector at the West Point foundry at Cold Springs, where the guns were built, and Captain John Raper, the chief engineer of Mr. Schuyler's company. The 15 inch guns will be 50 feet long. They can drop 500 pounds of dynamite nearly four miles away, or 500 pounds for considerably over a mile. As the channel for deep water vessels extends only about a mile from Sandy Hook, warships entering the harbor would be exposed to the heaviest charges fired by these guns. At all ranges the guns can drop 75 per cent of their projectiles within a rectangle 90 feet wide by 300 long, about the target usually presented by a vessel.

The full caliber shell or projectile will weigh 4,000 pounds, the explosive charge weighing 600 pounds. The 15 inch guns, when under firing pressure of 1,000 pounds per square inch, can throw at least 20 of these projectiles, carrying altogether 10,000 pounds of dynamite a distance of one mile in half an hour. The exact range of the 15 inch gun at 85 degrees elevation with the large projectile is 2,400 yards; with the 10 inch subcaliber projectile, weighing 500 pounds, it is 4,400 yards; with the 8 inch subcaliber projectile, weighing 340 pounds, the range is 5,000 yards, and with a 6 inch subcaliber projectile, weighing 240 pounds, the range is 6,000 yards.—New York Press.

He Rode the Broncho.
Some one at the hotel told that fat man, who had a week's holiday, that horse-back riding was the finest exercise in the world for reducing the flesh, so the gentleman with the surplus tissue rented a horse for a week—a tough, wiry buckskin broncho—and started in. Every morning at 9 o'clock precisely he mounted his steed in front of the hotel, but no one ever saw him come back. He was never at midday dinner, but he appeared at the supper table, always looking worn out and dejected. "How are you making out?" asked his adviser one night. "Oh, pretty fair. Lost 20 pounds." "That's good. Keep it up and you'll have a shape like the Apollo Belvidere." "Can't keep it up. That's the trouble. I never was much at walking, or running either, for that matter." "Walking? You don't need to walk when you go riding." Then the storm burst. "Walking! I guess you never rode a bronco, did you? Well, you want to try that one, and you'll learn something. The first day I went out on him he carried me as far as the bridge in the woods. Then he dumped me off in the mud. I chased him two miles, then I gave it up and walked home. The next day he took me half a mile further before he set me down. I went to the stable and kicked about it. The man asked me if I went riding for my health. I told him yes. He said that was just the horse I wanted, and that he kept him specially for that purpose. See, center fat men had offered to buy him, but he wanted to be generous and give every one a chance. He leaned his head on his hand wearily.

"I'll have to give it up, I guess. Here I've been crawling in the back door of this hotel for four days. It has cost me $1 a day to have my clothes cleaned, and it'll take me a year to recuperate. It's no use. I'm willing to stay fat if it blisters on my feet will only let up. Come inside and let me spend my last night in wild hilarity.—New York Herald.

How Frauleins Are Wed.
German weddings are conducted on an entirely different plan from American ones. In the first place, an engagement is not considered binding until after it has been announced in the papers. Then the fiancées devote a day to driving about among their acquaintances. Cards are sent to all the out of town friends of the families. Both fiancées wear rings on their left hands, and after marriage on the right. The bride provides all the linen, glass and furniture, except the appointments for her husband's office or study.

The wedding ceremony is a double affair, the civil contract taking place in the registry office early in the morning and the religious one several hours later in church. At the early ceremony the bride wears black, but at the later one she is adorned with all customary bridal finery. There are rarely any bridesmaids. The bride and bridegroom enter the church together, and the guests all wear full evening dress. A wedding breakfast follows the ceremony, but wedding cake is an unknown delicacy.—New York World.

BALD HEADS!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair thin, harsh, brittle? Does it fall out at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Does your scalp itch? Is it dry or is it heated? Is there any itching? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Skookum Root Hair Grower

It is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of scientific research. Knowledge of the disease of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of how to treat them. Skookum contains neither mercury nor iodine. It is not a dye, but a deliciously cooling and refreshing tonic. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions, by the use of Skookum Root Soap. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.

If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us, and we will forward prepaid, on receipt of price. Grower, $1.00 per bottle; 4 for $3.00. 8 for $5.00. per lot of 6 for $2.00.

SELF SACRIFICE.

Without a Justifiable Motive It Becomes a Sentimental Vagary.

Young Lanyon, the middle-aged man, who went down with Admiral Tryon on the Victoria, was a sentimental lad, and better camp, cried the admirer to the boy.

"I'd rather stay with you than the middle-aged man's reply. The boy's loyalty to the admiral was pathetic, but it was a display of affection. The admiral was right. The boy ought to have jumped and made a resolute effort to save his life. The admiral had weighty reasons for preferring to stay in the Victoria. The midshipman's life was being away from sheer excess of sentiment.

Equally wasteful and unjustifiable was the soul of a New Jersey workman, who listened to a lady's frantic appeal for the rescue of her dog, which was floundering in a pond. She fainted when the dog was in extreme danger. The workman plunged into the water and swam out to the dog. There he was suddenly attacked with cramp and was drowned before the lady's eyes. The dog swam ashore and barked from the bank at the rescuer, whose intentions had been misunderstood. It was more than foolish for a man to risk his life for a hysterical lady's pet dog.

Another workman in Brooklyn played a better part. A cry of "Horse run away!" was raised while he was chatting with a friend. A frightened horse was tearing up the street with a wagon behind him, but no driver. Directly in his track was a baby carriage with a sleeping child. The nurse, who had been wheeling the carriage across the street, had been frightened by the outcries of the crowd, and was fleeing in terror. The workman did not hesitate. Springing forward, he caught the animal by the bridle and stopped the horse barely in time to save the child's life. The horse, revolting against capture, reared and made a plunge for liberty. The bride broke in the workman's hands, and he fell under the horse's feet. In a moment he was trampled to death.

This workman had a wife and children dependent upon him. He undertook a most hazardous feat in attempting to stop the horse by the bridle ends in front of the baby carriage. But although he lost his life and brought calamity upon his household he exhibited singular selflessness and fortitude. The sight of the sleeping child exposed to a horrible death set his warm heart beating, and generously and impulsively he did the only thing that could have been done for the child's rescue.

That was better than a useless sacrifice of life for a puppy. It was nobler than voluntary sacrifice for the admiral, who, for the sake of a man's life, a probable brand of manhood more than he feared death. Unless self-sacrifice have adequate motive and justification for the risk, it becomes a sentimental vagary involving senseless waste of life.—Yonah's Column.

The waves cream up on the shingle. In the silence of the silver moon: Faint flower scents float and mingle: The winds in the pine trees croon.

A girl at her window sitting Waits from her dreamy tips The kiss that a faroff lover Never has had from her lips.

And the dew grows heavy with perfume: The night owl hoots in his tree, A sail gleams white in the darkness Where the fisherman skims the sea.

Out on the long gray sedges The loaded droops are parted: The robins dream in the hedger, And angels are watching the world.—Elizabeth Childsheim.

One Way to See a Sun Spot.
The shutters of the observer's house happened to be closed, and through a tiny hole near the top of them a beam of sunlight found its way to the floor. There it left an image, clear and round, tinged at the circumference with a fringe of blue and orange. The whole appearance of the beam as projected reminded the spectator of the image of the sun taken on paper through a telescope, and he got a sheet of white note paper in order to test his surmise. The result confirmed it. A beautiful round image of the sun fell on the paper, and near the center thereof could be seen a bluish spot, which moved about with the image whenever the paper was shifted. The bluish colored object was a veritable sun spot, and the observer watched and noted its position for several days until the revolution of the sun had carried it out of sight.—Boston Herald.
